"Handcufi" Jayne's Testimony.

Perhaps the ddest and most scandalous witness yet examined before the Congressional Committee of Investigation is Jayne, who was on the stand yesterday. His air, appearance and bearing are remarkable. Nature has stamped his physiognomy. His employment has been to line his own pockets and those of has been to line his own pockets and those of his confederates with money extorted, sometimes from the guilt, and quite as often from the fears, of the importers. Where guilt can be established he gets his moieties, which are divided with his Custom-house accomplices; but in many cases he operates on the timidity of merchants, who consent to be blackmailed rather than incur the loss of credit and reputation which would result from an embroilment tion which would result from an embroilment with the Custom-house authorities. His methods are as base as his ends are nefarious. In spite of his evasious, Senator Bayard compelled him to swear that he was in the constant habit of bribing merchants' clerks and book-keepers to betray their employ-ers, and supply him with facts which enabled him to ply his trade of blackmailing and extor tion. On hints thus dishonorably obtained it has been the practice of this man to seize the books and papers of merchants, and extort hush money when he could not discover grounds for prosecution. He has kept handcuffs in his office, displayed them in the presence of people whom he wished to scare, and to force by means of this terror and coercion into paying tribute to his rapacity. He was struck with consternation when questioned about his use of handcuffs, but, in spite of all his shrinking, he was compelled to admit that he kept handcuffs in his office, and that they had been brought forward in the presence of accused merchants whom he was seeking to subdue. Of course, no witness could be expected to fully confess such infamy, but his very subterfuges and eva-sions are sufficient to convict him. We quote from the testimony:

Q Do you consider the use of handcuffs a imate means of obtaining the truth? A. Q. Have you ever used such appliances?

A. I never have. Q. Did you ever threaten to put handcuffs upon a man? A. I think not.

Q. Well, think again; tax your memory?
A. I have thought pretty thoroughly. O. Are you prepared to swear that you never did? A. I am prepared to swear that other men have laid a pair of handcuffs down upon the table without any suggestion of their use. Q. There used to be a pair in your office? A. For a short time.

Q. How long did you keep handcuffs in your office? A. I never procured them; they were prought there accidentally.

Q. What were they brought there for? A. By a United States marshal who had a prison er in charge from Massachusetts.

Q. How long did you keep those handcuffs in your office? A. I think they have hung there ever since. Q. Are you willing to state further to the committee the instances in which you have acted upon the fears of men in compelling them to give to you information that you deemed uecessary to prosecute your suits? A. I think it has been done to a very limited extent. Q. Who was the man who came in so opportunely and laid down the handcufis while you were examining a witness? A. I think the first time it occurred it was J. S. Chalker, now a special agent with Colonel Howe. Q. What was his occupation at that time? A. Inspector.

Q. What knowledge had he that you were interrogating this timid witness? A. I think he brought him there. Q. At what stage of the terrifying did he come in with the handcuffs? A. I do not know just what stage.

Q. How often did you actually put these handcuffs on anybody? A. I have no knowledge of their ever having been put on a man to territy him. Q. Well, to encourage him? A. I unlocked the handcuffs and put them on my own wrists sometimes to see how they work, but not to terrify the witness. Q. If not to terrify or encourage him, what was it for? A. To see how they opened and locked.

Q. In your presence at any time, has a wit ness been handcuffed. A. I think not, sir. Q. Suppose you say you know not, not you think not? A. Not to the best of my knowledge and belief. Q. Did you ever see a man, for any cause, handcuffed in your room in the Custom-house A. I think not, sir, except it was voluntary on

O. Well, who was the person who was handcuffed at his own request? A. I do not know that any one was; I think I have put them on my own wrists.

Q. When were you examining this witnessat the time that Chalker brought in the handcuffs? A. I do not recollect. Q. You do not keep a record of these transactions? A. No, sir. This reminds one of the barbarous times when the rack was used to extort self inculpating testimony from accused persons. No won-der that when scandals like this are coming to light the whitewashing members of the committee are so anxious to stop the investigation. -N. Y. World.

The New York Citizen has put on a new the "Black Crook:" "Where now is the erstwhile glad frondescence of your garish grottoes, the flammivomous effulgence of your Hades, the fluviatic mockery of your copper bottomed lakes, the impermeable cotton of your oscillating foam, or the flocculent florescence of your glowing muslin roses? Who have injured themselves by a certain prac tice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.
What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snat had from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in permicious habits. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE. Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness, Indeed, without these the journey inappiness, indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

When e misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure 1 nds that he has imbibed the seeds of this pain all disease, it too often happens that an ill-times ense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country from whence no traveller returns."

'It is a melaneholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDERS, who, by the use that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the consitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious injurious compounds, and instead of being re injurious compounds, and instead of being re stored to a renewal of Life, Vigorand Happiness in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
